CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—(By the Associated Press.) A Washington special says that President Cleveland is getting ready for an issue of gold bonds of probably $100,000,000, either under a compromise silver bill or under the authority of the Treasury Department.

Already has J. Pierpont Morgan, of Drexel, Morgan & Co., who helped float the former issues of bonds, had a conference with Secretaries Carlisle and Gresham. He goes back to New York with the information that the best compromise that can be made with the silver men is to continue the purchase of silver for three years, and authorize bonds for the purpose of increasing the gold reserve to $200,000,000. The silver men may insist on the purchase of a certain amount per month. If they do, they will consent to a provis-ion permitting the national banks to issue circulation to the par value of their bonds. Pretty Bit of Play at the Start-The English Yacht Crosses the Line First-The American Wins by

By Telegraph to The Times

NEW YORK, Oct 9.-(By the Asso ciated Press.) For the second time, and that more easily than the first, the America's cup defender Vigilant beat the English representative Valkyrie. The second race was sailed today on the triangular course from Sandy Hook under conditions that could not have been more gratifying. While the vic tory today was a magnificent one, only the strongest words of praise can be said of the gallant but ineffective struggle which the Valkyrie made. She was beaten three miles at the finish, and when the plaudits of the thousands rang out to speed the conqueror, the hull of the conquered was yet far astern.

The yachts got down to start over half an hour ahead of the time ap-pointed for the firing of the preliminary gun, which was 11:15, and cavorted around t the northward of the line un til the first gun was given. Then they began business. It was a very pretty play on the part of both captains. On the second wear ship, the Villant made her land at least a copule of lengths to leeward of the position from which she started to do the act, and the Valkyrie was going in stays right down on the line when the gun to send her was sounded. At that time the wind was blowing about thirteen miles an hour from the southwest by south half was blowing about thirteen miles an hour from the southwest by south half south. It was, of course, a dead beat to windward from Sandy Hook lightship into Long Branch on the Jersey

The Vigilant got quickly into the wind and followed the Valkyrie over the line, about two lengths behind. The handler of the Vigilant evidently felt that he must gain in windward work, and that very quickly, what was lost in lateral distance. He began to pinch his boat high up into the wind. Her head sails shook as though there was not enough wind to fill them, and she dropped behind. The Valkyrie went dropped behind. The Valkyrie went ahead with great speed. It looked as though she was skipping right away from the Vigilant, and so she was, in a way, but the Vigilant's centerboard prevented that boat from sagging to keward, whereas the keel of the same of utter had only a small part of the Presently the sails of the Vigilant were seen to billy out well, and. from that moment, the American boa began to win the race. She passed the Valkyrie at 12:05, forty minutes after the start, and never afterwad headed or touched under any conditions or circumstances. When the Val-kyrie saw her opponent going ahead, she hauled down her big topsail with the intention of putting up a small one like the Vigilant's, but while the changing was going on, Capt. Cranfield decided to go about. No sooner had the Englishman gone around than the American followed suit.

As the boats stood off on the por tack it was seen that the Vigiant was over a quarter of a mile ahead, and was just about as much to the wind ward. They tried hard on the Val-kyrie to send her head up into the wind, but she could not better herself a single inch. When the Vigilant got around the first leg she was over a mile in the lead, but the Valkyrie stuck to her work. The wind was almost directly over the starboard quarter as they started on the second leg. The Valkyrie now had a chance to show what she could do in running before a real whole-sail breeze. The steady claim of the cutter men was that the model of their choice was sure to beat he centerboard in that sort of work Instead of doing so, the centerboard in-creased her lead to the extent that made everybody, her friends and enemies, astounded.

It was a fair and square open-sea race, both boats finding every breath that was astir. When the Vigilant turned the flag at the end of the second leg she was a good two miles in advance. Having rounded that mark then came another leg on which the cutter was supposed to be much the better boat. The wind was pretty nearly abeam, and the sheets were hauled aft. It was a pretty good spec imen of reach, and yet the light-draughted boat knocked the spots out of the deep craft.

The Vigilant continued to increase her lead from the time she began the leg until she crossed the finish line. She had made on an average, and just better that the crossed of the line of the control of the leg o she had made on an average, and just about actually, a gain of a mile on each of the three legs. It was an ample test, as has been told, on each of the three points, windward work, running and reaching. It is generally admitted that the Valkyrie is the best boat that England has ever sent over to win the America's cup. She met, however, a yacht that is so far her su-perior, that her hitherto admirers all say there can be no doubt that the Vigilant will win the three straight races, and therefore the match. There still remains, however, the question as to which of the boats is more worthy in half a gale, and a very rough sea. The official time was: Vigilant, start, 11:25; finish, 2:50:01; elapsed time, 3:25:01; corrected time, 3:25:01. Valkyrie, start, 11:25; finish, 3:02:24; elapsed time, 3:37:24; corrected time, 3:35:36. Thus the Vigilant beat the Valkyrie by 12 min, 23 sec., on elapsed time, and, after taking off 1 min, 48 sec. time allowance, by 10 min, 35 sec.

lowance, by 10 min. 35 sec.
The Regatta Committee say the Vigilant crossed the starting-line two sec-onds ahead of the Valkyrie. This would reduce the victory of the Vigi-lant by two seconds, in the actual time, but it does not count, as the yachts had equal chances to start at the one-gun signal. The gains of the Vigilant are officially reported to be 4 min. 45 sec. on the first leg, 4 min. 12 sec. on the second, and 4 min. 26 sec on the third.

An Associated Press reporter saw Capt. Cranfield on the Valkyrie and asked him as to the race. The captain

"I must say we are very much dis appointed. I knew, after Saturday's race, that we had a hard nut to crack, but I could not believe we could have been so well beaten as we were."

"Has not your knowledge of center-board yachts, as compared with keel, convinced you that the American plan is better?" "I will not admit that yet," an swered the Scotch captain. "We ca show you some other experiments."

It is learned the American yacht's head-spar was sprained during the race. A new one had to be rigged, and as a result, Wednesday's race may put off untillThursday.

CHICAGO, Oct. 9. - (By the Associated Press.) It is estimated that, barring London, Chicago is the most popular city in the world today. in the past forty-eight hours the railroads have brought in 500,000 strangers.

Chicago has been called on to take care of some large crowds in the past, but never before has anything been seen like the size of this one. In spite of all the extra accommodations pro-vided for the World's Fair, every public house is taxed to its utmost capacity, and thousands are compelled to ep in stairways and restaurants and hotel offices. Rooms are impossible to cure, and cots are at a premium.

The gates were opened at 6:30 o'clock this morning, with crowds already waiting for admission. From that time on there was no let up. At every entrance-gate, hundreds to thousands lined up. The turnstiles worked as fast as possible letting streams of people into the grounds, but they came faster than they could get in, and as the hours wore on, the multitudes outside seeking admission increased. Fully 00,000 people came to the city in the past two days for the purpose of being present today. In addition to the vast army of visitors already here, every business house in the city was closed, and most of the employees furnished with tickets of admission.

Chicago seems to have control of the weather this year. A more delightful day for this crowning celebration could not have been manufactured to order, There was no cloud in the sky, and a cool, bracing breeze from the north made outdoor exercises delightful. It was emphatically a show day, with something in the way of exhibition

The day opened with the ringing of the Liberty bell by Simon Pokagon, the Pottewatomie chief who sold the site on which Chicago is situated, and John Young, son of the Indian who named Chicago. Following this, in rapid suc-cession, came a parade of Chicago Hussars, with a fanfare of universal peace sars, with a fanfare of universal peace by heralds stationed on the tops of buildings around the Court of Honor, the overture, "All Nations," by the united bands, the chorus, "Star Span-gled Banner," by 2000 voices, followed by other patriotic airs by bands and voices, including the national airs of all foreign nations, the ringing of the Liberty bell at noon by Mayor Harrison and the reunion and review of States in the Court of Honor, making a beautiful pageant. The exposition was transferred into a fairyland tonight. Bright lights flashed from every nook and crevice in the buildings. The search-light cut the buildings. The search-light cut wide swaths in the sky. Multi-colored rockets shot heavenward. Showers of fire were rained about the grand basin and on the lake front. Through it all floats representing Chicago's progress were hauled. It was a grand climax of the chief festal day of the fair. The floats were marvels of beauty.

her feet clustered a chorus of fifty, whose songs rung out on the night air.

of the big fire represented by the sixth float. At the rear of the car Chicago was seen rising from the ashes.

The seventh float was emblematic of "Commerce." while the handsomest float in the procession, representing "Columbus at the Court of Isabella." brought up the rear. The "Genius of Electricity," appropriately demon-strated by "Electra," was in the form of an immense dragon, illuminated by over two thousand incandescent lights, which were constantly changing color.

At the head of the brilliant pageant rode the Chicago Hussars, followed by a band of a thousand pieces. The procession wended its way through all the principal avenues of the White City, and people occupied every inch of the ground, and all available space of the ground, and an extension the buildings.

The fireworks which followed, were probably the finest ever sent off. No expense was spared, and the magnitude of the display was appalling.

pieces which were brilliant in the ex-treme were "Old Fort Dearborn," "Old-City Hall" and "Chicago Triumphant." The largest piece of the evening was the "Burning of Chicago," which cov-ered an area of 14,000 square feet. It was produced in four scenes. The first illustrated "Mrs. O'Leary's Cow;" the second, "The Kicking Over of the Lamp." The fire starting thence was a realistic and correct view of the burning of the city, and the display and with a picture of "Chicago in closed with a picture of "Chicago ir

ANOTHER ACCOUNT.

The Largest Crowd of Any Like Gathering in History.
CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—(By the Associated Press.) A perfect artumn day, and the largest crowd that ever congregated at a like gathering in the world's history. Combined with all world's history, combined with all other features to make Chicago day at the World's Fair an unprecedented success. Everything on the programme went off with perfect success, and the only thing to mar the day or evening was the number of little accidents in-separable from the crushing and jamming of such a mass of people as con gested the World's Fair district. Hap pily, there were but few very serious plly, there were but few very serious accidents, although a great many peo-ple were painfully brulsed in the different crushes. The crowd was larger than that at the banner day of the Paris Exposition. Every part of the grounds was crowded, and the Midway Plaisance was almost impassable. Never before was a holiday so generally observed in Chicago. Every business house of any consequence was closed, and small stores of all descriptions for-lowed suit. In all sections of the city these stores were closed, and even the thousands of milkmen caught the in-fection and notified their patrons several days ago that they would make but one delivery today. Many large firms, in addition to closing their places of business, furnished their employees with tickets of admission to the fair. With all these people turned loose and added to by the tremendous influx of outside crowds the past fortyeight hours it is not to be wondered at that such a jam was never seen be-the day were the memorial editions of the Inter Ocean, Record and Times, newspapers of this city. were profusely illustrated, contained elaborate reviews of Chicago, and, especially, descriptions of the great fire. So unprecedented was the demand for these papers that from an early hour in the morning they sold at a premium, and, by afternoon, people wer-paying as high as 50 cents a copy for them. At down-town terminals all the morning the crush was appalling. At the steamboat landing and the Illinois Central and elevated stations there was a jam, the like of which has never before been seen here, while along the line of the cable roads people were packed in a black mass for blocks.

At the grounds the steady stream seemed to increase rather than diminish toward dark, as thousands of additional states of the steady of the states tional people began to make their way in to see the night display. The jam was such that women began to faint, and then a panic followed, resulting in serious injury to many people. There were a number of distressing accidents on the fair grounds proper tonight, owing to the awful crush. The hospital record at 6 o'clock showed less tha forty slight casualties. Two hours later the number had increased to 125. Of these the largest number were women who had fainted and fallen in a hear in the rushing and surging mass that seemed to have lost all powers of rea-

The worst crush of all was in the early evening at the east side of the Transportation building, where the people became wedged in a great mass and a panic commenced: Men shouted themselves hoarse to still the restless throng. Women screamed frantically and dozens fainted. Ambulances were summoned, and these, in trying to wedge their way through to the suf-ferers, caused other stampedes. To make matters worse at this point the parade, with inexcusable carelesaness ound around the Mining building and orced its way once more through the dense mass of people. The avenue was finally cleared by throwing open the oors of the Transportation building. There was another terrific jam at the Sixty-third street exit, where peo ple, in their impatience, broke down the fence. At 11:30 p.m., thousands of people were waiting for-trains, and it looked as if it would be early morning here such a demand on transportation facilities as today. The crowd was handled well, but no human means, no system of transportation, however great, was capable of handling such a vast crowd without difficulty. Accidents were few, and only a small proportion of them were fatal. The maority of those hurt were from outpoints, and the troubles arose from their not being as cautious as na-tive Chicagoans in the navigation of streets, and in getting on the cars.

Those killed in the city Those killed in the city today, were CHARLES A. CLARK of Buffalo, struck by a cable car. JAMES MALCOLM, residence unknown, died from a stroke of apoplexy at the fair. Among those injured on cable trains the crush at the Illinois Central and elevated stations, etc., were: MRS. LOUISA RHODE of Gilman,

ANDREW WELLS of Waupaca,

WILLIAM J. BURR of Hopkins, Ky O. F. REYLANDS of Mattoon, Ill. MISS NETTIE ROGERS of Colum-

MRS. MATILDA STEWART of For du Lac, Wis.

CHARLES LONG of Cincinnati,
TOBY LANSON of Chicago.

PATRICK CLIFFORD, policeman.

None of these are thought to be fatally hurt, but they, as well as many others, whose names are not learned, will have painful reminders of the day for some time to come. The greatest crush occurred at the Congress Street depot of the elevated road.

James Malcolm, who died at the emergency hospital of apoplexy, was a resident of San Francisco. Thomas Robertson of Freemont, Minn., was struck by a cable car and fatally hurr.

resident of San Francisco. Thomas Robertson of Freemont, Minn., was struck by a cable our and fatally hipridying in a short time, John Dryden, an employee of James Pain & Sons, was fatally injured by a premature explosion of a bomb. He died shortly after reaching the hospital, Mrs. John Tucker of Red Bud, Ill., hardly passed through the gates today when she called for aid. She was assisted by some women until an ambulance took her to the hospital, where she gave birth to a son.

The indebtedness of the World's Col-umbian Exposition has been wiped out. A check calling for $1,565.310 has been made out, payable to President Mitchell of the Illinois Trust and Saying's Bank, which is trustee of the exposition bond-holders.

A BIG JOB. Later—The total attendance at the fair today was 751,026 admissions, of which 713,646 were paid.

former president, with the consent of the depositors.
Today R. S. Seale, a depositor, brought an attachment suit for $1200. This will probably throw the whole thing into the courts, unless Seale drops the suit. The result of throwing the liquidation into the courts will be to invalidate much that has been done in the way of settlement since September 9. The deposits are $110,000. The investigation of assets by the committee of depositors resulted in an estimate of the assets at $101,000, but a shrinkage in this is already shown. The failure is largely due to large investments in the Mexican mines and lands in Nevada and elsewhere.

(The great French diplomat and engineer was born at Versailles, November 19, 1895. In 1825, he was attached to the French consulate at Lisbon, and in 1828, to that at Tunis. At three different times he was temporary consul-general at Alexandria, Egypt. He was made consul at Malaga in 1839 and at Barcelona in 1842. During the seige of the latter city by Espartero, in the same year, his energetic remonstrances—postponed the etic remonstrances postponed the ombardment several days, and, when finally occurred, he hired vessels and personally superintended the moval of fugitives. For this he ceived decorations from France, dinia, the two Sicilies, Sweden, Netherlands and Spain. In Netherlands and Spain. In 1848, he went as minister to Madrid but was displaced in favor of Prince Napoleon Joseph Bonaparte, and in the following year was sent to Italy with M. M. d'Harcourt and Raynesul, intrusted with the delicate task of restoring order in the papal dominions and preventing liberal excesses from interfering with the establishment of a regular government.

The liberalism which he exhibited was not satisfactory at home, and he was recalled. In 1854 he went to Egypt on the invitation of Viceroy Said Pasha. Here he thoroughly examined the project of a canal across the isthmus, and drew up a memorial on the subject. The Viceroy gave him a charter for ninety-nine years for the establishment of a stock company. De Lesseps gave himself up entirely to the project, and by his force of energy raised the necessary capital, and began the work in 1859. He was beset by many difficulties. Eminent engineers questioned its practicability, and various complications arose with both the Turkish and Egyptian governments, but De Lesseps triumphed over all, and, on August 15, 1869, had the satisfaction of seeing the waters of the Red Sea and Mediterranean mingle in the Bitter Lakes. The canal was formally opened November 17, 1869, in the presence of the Empress of the French, the Emperor of Austria, the Crown Prince of Prussia, Prince Amadens of Italy, Prince William of Orange, and other royal and distinguished individuals. Since the completion of the Suez Canal he has suggested the conversion of the Sahara Desert into an inland sea; the cutting of a ship canal through the Isthmus of Corinth, and a Central Asian railroad of a ship canal through the Isthmus of Corinth, and a Central Asian railroad to connect the south of Europe with India. The history of his great Panama Canal project and of his later misfortunes in connection therewith is still fresh in the public mind.

A MILITARY SESSION.

Gen. Mathelin, of the French Army, Hand

in His Resignation.

LONDON, Oct. 9.—(By Cable and Associated Press.) The Chronicle's correspondent at Paris says the unexpected resignation of Gen. Mathelin, com-mander of the Fifteenth Army Corps, who, in the ordinary course, would have taken command of the French campaign against Italy, has caused a painful sensation in government and army circles. This feeling, the correspondent says, has been increased by a telegram from Marseilles to the Jour-nal, which telegram the authorities caused to be suppressed, stating that in higher military circles, no surprise would be felt if the Italian troops should pass the frontier tomorrow.

The telegram also said that Gen. Mathein, owing to the condition of his health, did not feel equal to the task with which he would be confronted if the Alpine outpost is doubled. It says further that the attitude of the officers and men of the army of the officers and men of the army toward Italy has become so aggressive that even Germany is counseling calm-ness and prudence.

The correspondent adds that prob-ably the reports of anti-Italian feeling are somewhat exaggerated, but he says it is difficult to imagine any greater unpleasantness short of tive hostilities than that which exists between France and Italy. Vaulgrenant will succeed Gen.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

OFFICE OF THE TIMES,
LOS ANGELES, Oct. 9, 1893.
At the opening of business on the New York Stock Exchange this morning there was a promise of activity which fell short of realization as the day progressed.
There was quite a rush of buying in the early dealings, but, during the afternoon, prices sagged off until, at the close, a decline from the highest figures of the morning was established which ranged up to 1½ per cent. It did not, however, wipe out all the early improvements, and the final sales show a substantial advance from Saturday.

Frank Wiggins has written from Chicago under date of October 3 and 4, saying that the partial list of awards in the horticultural department, which was given out to the press, and appeared in the mewspapers of that date, was very incomplete, and no criterion to go by. He characterizes it all as a farce, simply a poor copy of the entry list, and sets the award idea down as having originated in the fertile brain of soms newspaper man.

He says: "We gave it credence yesterday, as it appeared; but responsible parties, in a position to know, claim that it is a bogus thing from beginning to end."

Irrigate the Arid Lands.

We are at present passing through a period of hardship as a nation. Thousands of men are seeking in vain for bread. Uncle Sam is no longer able to give everybody a free farm. We have recently witnessed the mad rush to the Cherokee Strip, where the last large slice of government land was taken possession of by an army of homeseekers. There never was a more propitious time to take up the subject of irrigating the arid lands on a broad and liberal scale. There will be little opposition among the people if the matproperly explained to them. Here on the one hand are homes for millions waiting only for the application of water to make them available; on the other hand, we have a government which owns these lands, with unlimited credit, and there are hundreds of thousands of men out of work. The present congress has a splendid opportunity to strike the first blow, and inaugurate a movement for the irrigation of these lands by the Government. Those who favor the cession of the arid lands to the States and Territories will, of course, be present and perhaps in greater numerical force than the others. They will have all sorts of objects to urge, as, for in-stance, that such work is beyond the province of the government. If, howe government can improve rivers and harbors and can reclaim swamp lands, surely it also has the power to irrigate or to prepare for irrigation the great arid lands which it

In this matter the Irrigation Congress has the power to make itself a lasting inaugurating a movement toward the creation of a great Western empire, where now all is desolation and drought. This is no wild scheme, it is no new experiment. We have the results of the application of water to results of the application of water to dry lands all around us. COMING ATTRACTION—"Killarney" is the title of a new Irish drama which Katie Emmett will present at the Los Angeles Theater Thursday night. The play has for a plot a romantic love story, interwoven with a charmingly natural sketch of life in the Emerald Isle a hundred years ago, and it is said to be a superior plece of dramatic literature to anything of its kind which has been given for years.
It is thoroughly devoid of anything of the nature of burlesque or caricature, and depends mainly on the clean and wholesofte wit and humor in which it abounds for its comedy. There is a wealth of magnificent scenery and costumes, and the play is in the hands of a good company. COMING ATTRACTION - "Killar-

Back from Chicago

Dr. J. E. Cowles returned yesterday morning from his six weeks' visit in Chicago, where he has been dividing time between an inspection of hospitals and the World's Fair. He is accompanied by his wife, whose absence has covered nearly four months, passed with her parents in that city. The doctor comes back to find his Pacific Sanitarium, on Pico and Hope streets, full, so that his season of vacation and recreation is at an end. He considers the exhibit in the Californ's building one of the most splendid advertisements that this State could have, and cites the cave of several men of wealth who are being brought out to visit the Coist, solely through that display. His praises of the Cahorma State building, are compared with all the other State buildings, are very enthusiastic.

He brings word that Judge Smith has so far recovered from his recent accident as to be now en route for home, and his arrival is expected today or tomorrow.

Delegates Arriving Every Train.

The International Congress to Open This Morning.

Prominent Men Who are in Attendance.

Official Programme for the Five Days' Sessions-Interview With Col. Hinton. Great Interest in the Meeting.

The Chamber of Commerce was one of the busiest places in Los Angeles yesterday. Delegates to the International Irrigation Congress, the first session of which is to convene today, came pouring in from early morning until evening, where they were met by the Committee of Reception, welcomed, in-troduced, invited to register, and proffered such material hospitalities serve to promote good fellowship.

From these headquarters the delegates repaired to their respective hotels to get themselves in trim for the busi-ness of today. They are nearly all regis-tered at the Hollenbeck, Nadeau and St.

So far a large number have arrived from Kansas, from Nebraska and from Illinois. The more distant points seem to be getting in their representatives first. Dr. J. E. Cowles, who came through from Chicago, arriving by yesterday morning's overland, reports a delegation of noted irrigationists as having composed an important element of that traveling party, which included Col. Richard J. Hinton of New York, Col. Rice of Peoria, Ill., Lindley Pickering of Kansas, and some half dozen of celebrity. Several members of this distinguished party made a stop at Al-buquerque, and will conclude the trip today or tomorrow. Count Constantin Comodzinsky and wife of Russia arrived Saturday from their stay at the Hotel del Coronada and are at the Hollenbeck. In a cor their stay at the Hotel del Coronado, and are at the Hotlenbeck. In a conversation in French or Russian the Count would most certainly be a host; he is a big, genial, vivacious man, with twinkling eyes and an evident great fund of humor. But one whose tongue is limited to English must conduct conversation with the equally vivacious Countess. Both are enthusiasts on the subject of irrigation, and expect to return to Russia with their heads filled with irrigation schemes, sufficient to do much toward reclaiming the arid steppes of that country. Oh, yes, the Countess says, she shall attend the congress and learn what the wise—men have to say on this subject.

Shortly after his arrival one of the shining lights in the irrigation world was seen and questioned as to the important subject upon which he is high authority. This was Col. Richard J. Hinton, of the city of New York, formerly chief of the Department of Irrigation for the government, but whose present interests are largely centered in the matter of irrigation securities. Sometime during the convention, although the date has not been decided upon, he will be heard upon the topic. "The National Relations to Water and Land, and Their Connection With Irrigation."

The question was asked Col. Hinton as to the present outlook for irrigation securities. His answer was: "There is no essential market at this moment. There is no open market in New York or east of the Mississippi River, for irrigation securities. Yet the fact remains that there is a great and growing interthat there is a great and growing interest, rather silent, but yet marked, noticeable to a person situated as I am. As a proof of that, let me say that I have been a party to the negotiation of two large loans, which, upon coming here, I left just at the final point of conclusion. One is for the continuation of construction work in New Mexico; the beginning of a system which will irrigate two-fifths or more of a body of land embracing 440,0000 acres. This is a large loan, made on easy terms. The other relates to an extensive fruit enterprise in Southwestern Arizona, and est, rather silent, but yet marked, terprise in Southwestern Arizona, and involves the loaning of $160,000 upon the bonds of the company interested.

Three weeks ago both of these loans were refused, on the grounds that they were on Western securities and not of any value.

The Irrigation Market, 160 irrigation enterprises, covering 5.000,000 acres of land, and aggregating $60,000.000 or capital. During the same period I have watched the sale of bonds and stocks on at least a score of reclamation enterprises in different parts of the West, which have been placed by the system of brokerage now in use among small investors in New England, Northern New York, Pennsylvania and Northern New York, Pennsylvania and Northern Ohio. This has been going on in spite of hard times.

"There are a half-dozen prosperous firms, generally young men, who are making a specialty of irrigation enterprises. A good bond, running a reasonable time, and bearing 6 or 7 per cent. gold interest, can be even now marketed successfully in the East, provided that the water and land are known to be abundant and of good climatic conditions."

"What is your idea in regard to our irrigation district bonds? Are you of the opinion that they can be marketed?"

ringation intait they can be marketed?"

"Yes, I believe a market can be made for them. I am informed that a case is pending before the United States Supreme Court, involving the constitutionality of the Wright system. I shall not fear an adverse decision, but if one is made it will devolve upon your Legislature to correct the points upon which the Supreme Court may decide adversely.

"The district system, so far as wrought out in California, affords to my mind the reasonable solution for the administration of water and land in connection with irrigation. I think it will finally be, in some form, the one controlling law of the entire arid region. My friend Wright has worked better than he knew, in bringing this great principle and method into general use. If the Supreme Court decides favorably, it will, in my judgment, settle the practicability of placing the bonds of all well-organized districts in this State."

"In your estimation, can anything be done to give greater confidence to investors, especially those from the East?

"Yes, there are several things to be investors, especially those from the East?

"Yes, there are several things to be done by the States and Territories to give Eastern investors confidence. All water appropriations, for example, should be registered, and this public record made easily accessible. There should be in each State of the arid region an irrigation commission, with a State engineer's office attached. All water supplies used for irrigation purposes should be made a matter of public record, whether flowing, underground, or otherwise. The State engineer should have the power, and it should be made his imperative duty, to investigate the source of water supply and the character of all constructions, especially of all dams and other reservoir works. A good State system of this kind would immensely help the securing of Eastern capital, because under it we could make the investor see that his money was properly expended, and the safety of life and property secured.

"I think, myself, that for investment purposes alone every incorporated irrigation and water company should be required to report very fully in relation to all its operations."

Upon being asked as to his return to California, after a residence of some duration in the East, Col. Hinton answered:

"I am glad to be in Los Angeles."

duration in the East, Col. Hinton answered:

"I am glad to be in Los Angeles again Though I live in the East, I love the West, and especially California. I hope for great good from the present congress, and trust that its proceedings will be both practical and harmonious.

"Personelly. I am opposed to any such thing as the unqualified cession of the public lands. I will favor legislation that will give to the several States and Territories interested, for the purposes of advancing irrigation and water storage, the net proceeds of all public land sales and transactions. I am emphatic in support of the policy of reserving in the hands of the nation the sources of all inter-State water supplies, such as rivers or lakes, and maintaining them perpetually as storage or forest reservations. I am against all tendencies to a separatist and sectional policy, and want to see the nation, as such, represented in every phase of our national life and in every part thereof."

One of the features of the congress is to be a daily journal, which will be put into the hands of the delegates every morning. This will not include the speeches in full, but will contain a full record of all transactions. At the close of the convention a full report will be issued, in which all matter that thas appeared before the congress will be reproduced.

This morning at 10 o'clock the congress will assemble at the Grand Operahouse, where William E. Smythe of Salt Lake City, secretary of the National Executive Committee, is to call the convention to order, in the absence of the chairman. Arthur L. Thomas of Utah. Owing to an accident by which a portion of his hand has necessarily just been amputated, Mr. Thomas is unable to be present. The operation took place a day or two ago, and regrets have been telegraphed, with the information that, but for this unforseen occurrence, he should have been in his place.

Mrs. Hughes presented an earnest argument in favor of the granting of the application of Mr. Galbraith. It was an injustice that he should be compelled to pay. If Mr. Trask had consulted with other members of the Teachers' Committee, as he had stated, it was strange he had said nothing about it to Dr. Wills or herself, who were members of that committee, and who were in of that committee, and who of that committee, and who were, in fact, the only ones present at the meeting of the committee last Saturday.

A TRAVELING CLOAK

(From Our Regular New York Fashion Correspondent.) Baby ribbon, yards and yards, and then a lot more, is used to edge lounces of chiffon or crepe, and someimes in rows and rows to each flounce. In the case of black gowns, the ribbon is frequently the only touch of color, and a very stylish dinner gown of and a very stylish dinner gown of about heat has three rows of about ribbon on each flounce, the colors being yellow, sage green and rose. Such a pretty, fleecy effect is produced! Wool gowns, show the same idea in narrow braid, tred being used on black and brown. The beaded trimmings are in a shade of reddish brown. The other costume is in aubergine silk, with large broche spots. Bodice and butterfly sleeves are strewn with irridescent ornaments. The bertha is of the silk, with a beaded fringe falling over the shoulders. Both are handsome and dressy gowns.

The new traveling ulster comes to the heel and buttons in the back, and after you get over the shock of it, you will realize that it is a good idea. The front is not fitted, but falls flat home breadth. The sides under the arms are fulled a little, and at the back the skirts are fulled and a big box pleat falls from the collar. Under this is the fastening. Such a cloak may be a nuisance to get on and fastened but the sides are not going to be spreading, catching and opening. The "pinafore" effect is new and pretty. The material is a close woven hop sacking, though the same design is shown in brilliaptine and silk for a dust cloak, but the model seems best to suit heavy goods.

ABOUT THROAT AND SHOULDERS.

(From Our Regular New York Fashion Correspondent.)
The choicest laces are being sarrificed to the craze for the insertion of lace medallions, and the use of guipire and Irish point applique. It is a cuestion whether the result warrants the sacrifice, but that has nothing to lo with the case. Still, every one will appreciate that it is a great deal dister to cut lace up than it is to git it to gether again. The dress pictured has a new form of lace collar. It can be made of either Irish point, sitpure or bourdon. Underneath it three ruffles fall, all of them pleated of to the material of the gown.

In the case of Alfred Moore, appel-lant, vs. S. H. Mott and W. C. Furrey, respondents, the order entered by the Superior Court is reversed.

This action was upon an undertaking given to procure the release of property from an attachment. The writ was issued in an action brought by Alfred Moore as plaintiff against one Dor-ward. The under king recited the isuance and levy of the attachment, that suance and levy of the attachment, that the defepdant had applied to the court for an order releasing and discharging the property from the operation of the attachment, and that the court had fixed the value of the property attached at $1200, and in consideration of the premises, the sureties (the defendants) undertook and promised that in case the plaintiff recovered judgment defendants would, on demand, redeliver the attached property to the Sheriff to be applied to the payment of the judgment, or in default thereof, the sureties would pay on demand to the plaintiff the sum of $1200. The lower court found that the plaintiff did not recover, any judgment from Dorward, nor that any judgment was ever entered in favor of Moore. A motion for a new trial was denied, and this order the Supreme Court reverses.

THE APPEAL SUSTAINED. the defendant had applied to the court THE APPEAL SUSTAINED.

case of the Security Loan Trust Company, respondent, vs. the Willamette Steam Mills Lumber Company, was an action brought to recover damages alleged to have been sustained by the entry of defendants upon plaintiff's lot and forcibly removing therefrom a certain house, foundation and bridges.

The defendants, in their answer, admitted the removal of the property but mitted the removal of the property, but maintained their right to do so on the ground that they were trade fixtures erected during the defendant corpora-tion's occupancy of the premises as ten-ants, under a lease from plaintiffs, grantor, and that such removal was made before the termination of the tenancy.

The case was tried without a jury, and upon the issue thus joined, judgment was rendered in favor of the plaintiff and against the defendant corporation alone. From this judgment poration alone. From the case was taken up on appeal.

poration alone. From this judgment the case was taken up on appeal.

The facts of the case were briefly as follows: On April 1, 1884, Jotham Bixby, then owner of the premises in question, entered into a contract in writing, to sell and convey the same to Frank L. Stearns for $6000, payable on or before April 1, 1887. Stearns entered into the possession of the premises under this contract, which was never recorded, and on May 6, 1885, he executed to J. A. Russ a lease of the portion in dispute for a lumber yard, for a term of five years, from June 1, 1885. The lease contained a provision that "the balance of the land, from Chavez street, shall be used in common," and it was upon this latter portion of the premises that the house referred to was situated. The lease was duly acknowledged and recorded, and afterward assigned by Russ to his principal, the defendant corporation, for whom he had acted as agent in the execution thereof. The building was erected upon the suggestion of the lessor by the defendants on that part of the premises reserved in the lease for the common use of the parties, for office purposes.

It was alleged that the defendant

the lease as common, and that defendant corporation during the whole term of the lease was in exclusive possession of the leased premises.

Upon this statement of facts the question arose whether the buildings and bridges were erected by the defendant for the purpose of trade, and were so used, or intended to be used by it in connection with, and as an accessory to carrying on its business as a lumber dealer on the premises. If so, then they were trade fixtures within the meaning of the code, and, as such, were removable by the tenant at any time during the continuance of the term of the lease, unless they were annexed in such a manner that their removal could not be effected without injury to the premises. injury to the premises.

The Supreme Court believes that the fixtures were trade fixtures, within the meaning of that portion of the code referred to, and direct that the judgent and order appealed from be re

STORKE VS. STORKE.

The case of Yda Addis Storke, plain-tiff and respondent, vs. C. A. Storke, defendant and appellant, has come back from the Supreme Court with the former order entered practically back from the Supreme Court with the former order entered practically affirmed.

Mrs. Storke brought the suit against her husband for permanent maintenance and support. On August 12, 1891, the trial court made an order that during the pendency of the action, defendant pay plaintiff $50 per month alimony, and $50 to her attorney. From this order the defendant appealed. Mr. Storke had filed an answer in the case at that time, alleging insanity on the part of his wife, and praying for the appointment of a guardian for her, and the point he raised in his appeal was that the court had no right to allow alimony until it had heard and determined the issue of insanity.

With respect to the averment of insanity, the Supreme Court held that it was not different from any other averment which, if proven at the trial, would have defeated Mrs. Storke's action. The very purpose of alimony his such a case was to give support to the wife, and enable her to conduct her side of the case in litigation, pending the trial of the issue made by the pleadings. If the court was compelled to try and determine the issues in the case before it could allow alimony, the entire purpose of allowing allimony during the pendency of the action, would be defeated. Hence the direction would be made that the lower court modify the order of August 12, 1891, by requiring the $50 attorney's fees to be paid to the plaintiff, and, as thus modified, the order would be affirmed with costs of appeal to respondent.

Aaron Smith has finally lost his suit which he brought against the courty srection of a county Courthouse. That said bonds were duly executed and delivered to the treasurer for sale, and that he, in pursuance of law, advertised for and invited bids for said bonds. That no bona fide bid had been made for any of the bonds, and that no sale thereof was or could be had untif a bid for 110 of such bonds was procured and caused to be made by plaintiff in pursuance of his employment by the Board of Supervisors to procure a bid to be made for all or a part of the bonds. That said bid so procured by plaintiff for 110 bonds was accepted and the bonds so bid were by the treasurer sold at 5 per cnt. to the bidder so procured and the purchase price thereof paid into the treasury. That the Board of Supervisors agreed to pay plaintiff for such services, the value of which was fixed at $3300. That within one year after he performed such services plaintiff presented his itemized claim, which was rejected by the board. The complaint was demurred to on the grounds that it did not state facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action, the demurrer was sustained, and the plaintiff, refusing to amend judgment, went against him, from which he appealed.

The question before the Supreme Court to be determined involved the power of the Board of Supervisors to tion, the demurrer was sustained, and the plaintiff, refusing to amend jüdgment, went against him, from which he appealed.

The question before the Supreme Court to be determined involved the power of the Board of Supervisors to make the contract of employment upon which the action was founded, and upon this the court rules: "It is clear that the provisions of the statute confer no express power upon the Board of Supervisors to make such a contract as the one sought to be recovered in this action, and unless it can be implied from certain subdivisions, then it follows that no such power exists, and the contract sued on is, therefore, void, because not made in pursuance with law. As the act of March 14, 1883, distinctly enumerates the acts which the board is required to perform, with reference to the issuance and diposal of county bonds, and as the employment of a procurer of bids for bonds delivered to the treasurer for sale or exchange under the law, was not in any way necessary to the full discharge of the legislative authority of the county government, no such implied authority to make such a contract was conferred upon the board as contended for.

"The Board of Supervisors cannot sell or negotiate the sale of their county bonds; that power is expressly conferred upon the County Treasurer, and it is to be exercised by him under the direction of the board, and the sale or exchange of bonds by him is made subject to the approval of the board. In other words, the bids for the bonds are solicited and obtained upon the advertisement by the treasurer for such bid; and the law recognizes no other mode of procedure. The treasurer for such bid; and the law recognizes no other mode of procedure of Los Angeles county to probure a bid or bids for county bonds, delivered to the treasurer for sale or exchange, as alleged, was a void act, and the acts of the plaintiff in pursuance of such employment, however beneficial they may have been to the plaintiff, created no liability against it. Let the judgment be affirmed."

By a recent order on the Santa Fe line any employee on a passenger train found smoking while on duty, either at stations or on trains, will be promptly discharged.

It is practically certain that interests identified with the Lackawanna have secured control of the Toledo, Ann Arbor and Northern Michigan. The two lines have worked together for several years.

Recent train robberies in the West have caused so much uneasiness among express companies having headquarters in Omaha, that a general movement has been inaugurated toward having safes put on all trains that cannot be opened by burglars.

The passenger deal of the St. Paul with the Great Northern seems to set at rest the rumored combination of the latter with the Wisconsin Central. As already noted, the two lines will run through first-class sleeping cars from Chicago to Seattle daily.

The Wisconsin Central is a member of no railroad association. If the policy of its present management is maintained it will not become a member of any association. It may be that the practice of holding back a month and a half's pay, having once been in operation, will be indefinitely continued. It enables the company to retain the use of something like $1,000,000 belonging to their employees. The interest on this sum would amount to a tidy sum—at least $60,000 a year, or $5000 a month."

HE November Delineator and Patterns are now on sale. On page 573 of the Delineator a special announcement is made of a large reduction in the price of the patterns; this will again enlarge the selling capacity of these most excellent patterns. The November number is an unusual one. We have about 100 copies of the October Delineator to close at 5c a copy. The great autumn rush is now on. The big Dress Goods counter was piled mountain high with goods all day yesterday, and we had all we could possibly do. Once more trade has settled down to a business basis, and yet the statesmen in Washington are gabbing away on the silver question. It is like a disgruntled clerk; he will talk and talk and talk, and when he gets through sensible people will wonder what the man was discharged for. No one cares now what they do with the silver question; it is a dead issue as far as business is concerned. And still the dress goods trade grows; more of the moderate-priced goods, the kind of goods now being sought after; all-wools from 50c to a dollar in extra choice shades and qualities. Fine Silk Velvets, $1, $1.25, $1.50; a little lot of fine Fancy Velvets in odds and ends at $1, down from $2.50 and $3 a yard. We have been improving the store—the service—the way to do business. He is a dull scholar who will not learn. These improvements are all for your convenience. Notice the vim, the energy, the forceful way of showing goods without undue urging, and you will appreciate the cheerfulness that pervades every nook and corner of this big store. We want to be known as the live, wideawake house of Los Angeles; we want our clerks to be known as the best in every way. Pull the weeds out and the grass will grow better and stronger; a little weeding out improves the atmosphere and energy becomes more forceful. Look at the big Cloak Department, the largest and best in Los Angeles; plenty of light, plenty of goods, no urging, no forcing trade. We invite lookers and they are cordially treated; at the same time goods are shown freely, and at times it is surprising where all the goods go. Sales in the Cloak Department improve with improved service, improved methods and improved manners; it brings respect and a cordial feeling for the biggest, brightest and best cloak department. It adjoins the Royal Worcester Corsets-the famous Worth model-the perfection of corset-fitting; recommended in Los Angeles by more dressmakers, worn by more of the best dressed ladies and recommended all over America as the best of all Americanmade corsets-prices from a dollar up. the district to be affected by such sewer, and upon which the costs will be assessed.

A communication was read from George F. Foster, president of the Colorado Street Railway Company, stating that that corporation has purchased the franchise with the accompanying rights and privileges of the West Colorado Street Railway Company, and by it sold to Prof. T. S. C. Lowe, and that it assumes all of the same, subject to all duties and requirements imposed by law and by the city ordinances. The road in question extends from Fair Oaks avenue west on Colorado street to the Terminal station, and has been operated for some time by the purchasing company. The importance of the transaction consists chiefly in the fact that it insures the paving of the roadbed along with the rest of Colorado street, between Delacy street and Little avenue, arrangments for the work having already been perfected with the paving contractor, Mr. Fairchild.

In response to a communication W. H. Taylor was granted an extension of fifteen days' time in which to complete the laying of iron culverts across Colorado street at the intersections of Raymond and Fair Oaks avenues. The additional time is allowed in order to have the castings conform to the street-car tracks, which are being relaid.

A resolution was passed ordering the construction of a sever on Walnut street from a point 377 feet east of Raymond avenue to that avenue where connection will be made with the main. Specifications for the same, as drawn up by City Engineer Sedwick, were adopted, and the clerk was instructed to advertise for bids for the work.

The City Engineer submitted a report giving the figures for the estabstructed to advertise for bids for the work.

The City Engineer submitted a report giving the figures for the establishment of the official grade of Union street, between Delacy street and Pasadena avenue, which was adopted. The City Attorney was instructed to draw up the necessary papers.

Some time was devoted to an informal discussion of the proposed ordinance regulating the trimming of hedges and trees and the eradication of certain weeds, as provided for by an act passed by the last Legislature, and to which frequent reference has been made in these columns. City Attorney Arthur is at work on the ordinance and he submitted the following questions to the trustees in order to obtain their views on the subject:

"To what height shall the trimming of hedges be limited?
"How often shall they be trimmed?
"In what condition must a lot be before the city undertakes to remove the weeds?

"To whom must the decision of these questions be left?

"To whom must the decision of these questions be left?
"Would you have a different height of hedges within 300 feet of railroad tracks?

"Would you form a plan by which the city shall do the work, pay for it, and charge up the same as taxes, bearing interest of 1 per cent. per month from date?"

Action in the matter was deferred until the latter part of the week, when a special meeting will be held to discuss these and other important municipal matters.

The meeting then adjourned.

It was about 2:30 o'clock Monday afternoon when the first load of steam-ing-hot asphaltum was dumped down on the concrete base on Colorado street at the southeast corner of Delacy southeast corner of Delac Half an hour later this asphal on the concrete base on Colorado street at the southeast corner of Delacy street. Half an hour later this asphaltum had been spread, and rolled, and hammered over a space ten feet square, and the result was that it was just two inches thick all around, whereupon Contractor Fairchild and Manager Drain and Street Superintendent Brown smiled large, corpulent smiles, and looked happy all over.

The laying of the asphalt surface marks the last step in the paving of Colorado street. The asphaltum is melted and mixed with the requisite amount of sand in a big steam apparatus near the Santa Fe track, just north of Colorado street. The material is then hauled boiling hot in carts to the scene of action. The work is in the hands of experts, and will progress rapidly. It is stated that the south side of Colorado street, between Fair Oaks avenue and Delacy street will be completed by Wednesday night, and that it may be driven over by the end of the week. About 5000 square feet of asphalt surface can be laid per day under favorable conditions.

THE COMING TOURNAMENT. An article appeared in Monday's is-ue of The Times that doubtless consue of The Times that doubtless conveyed some erroneous impressions relative to the giving of a Tournament of Roses next New Year's day. The Valley Hunt, Pasadena's leading social organization, inaugurated this delightful festival nearly four years ago, and already four successful tournaments have been given, until the occasion is recognized as the town's great annual fete day. A New Year's day in Pasadena now without a Tournament of fete day. A New Year's day in Pasadena now without a Tournament of Roses would be worse than apple ple without cheese. The Valley Hunt appreciates this, and proposes to give another tournament on January 1, 1894. There is no "if" about it. With reference to cash contributions, none have hitherto: been made, and none will be asked for this year. The club proposes as in former years, to assume all responsibility, and go it alone. All that it asks. Will be the generous support and patronage of the public. The aim will be to make the coming tournament excel all those that have gone before by rectifying such mistakes as have Silkwood badges are beginning to show upon the coats of enthusiastic admirers.

There was a large crowd of spectators at the track all forenoon Monday, watching the scores of horses exercising on the circuit. Interest is, of course, centering in the pacing event Wednesday, consequently Wood, Dick and Silkwood are the centers of attraction at the stalls. Dick took a little exercise early in the morning, and Wood came out a little later, after having been freshly shod, and went around the circuit a few times. He broke once, however, but it did not seem to lessen his gait very much. Silkwood jogged around the track several times, and then went a mile, but he broke at the five-eight pole and ran several hundred yards before he was brought down to work again.

The town is rapidly filling up with strangers, almost every train yesterday bringing them in from all directions.

Not only lovers of the turf, but tramps and confidence operators as well, are finding their way here. The officers are running in a host of them almost every night, and hustling them out of town the following day. It would be well for residents to be careful about leaving their valuables in exposed places.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS.

The Board of Supervisors met Monday mornide, with all members, except Yoch and the clerk, present.

The County Assessor made a request for the board to furnish him a coal stove in his office. The matter was referred to the chairman of the board, with power to act.

In the matter of the improvement on the Santa Ana River, Mrs. Mills appeared and addressed the board in reference to the damages sustained by the proposed new channel of the river going through her property. The matter was taken under advisement.

The name of Santos Rios was, upon motion, dropped from the indigent list. It was agreed by the board to purchase a new Austin street grader, the purchase price to be $340.

The board adjourned to meet next Monday at 10 o'clock a.m.

Ontario has had a visit from twovery smooth citizens, but they have come and gone, and no one in this section is likely to hear of them again.
The officers arrested them Saturday evening on suspicion, and took them to jail. On their persons were found sling shots, pistols, knives and a few other burglar layouts. The men gave their names as Robert Redman and John Bark. They were put in the strongest cell, but on Sunday night succeeded in burning a hole in the side, and taking some kind of a lever, pried off some of the wall and escaped. It is thought they were dangerous criminals, which the officers would have liked to held.
This suggests the idea that Ontario needs a new jail very badly. While it is not expected that the city will be overrun with criminals, the place will not to consent to be behind, even in the matter of jails.

The reading of the requisitions, as approved by the Supply Committee, was then taken up. Among them were the two from the Chief of Police for the cost of printing the rules in reference to saloons, as referred back to the committee one week ago. Councilman Strohm asked that these be laid aside, which was done until the others approved by the committee had been read. Councilman Strohm then moved that these be again referred back to the Supply Committee.

Councilman Gaffey wanted to know about the matter. He, for some reason, could not understand how it was that there should be two such requisitions presented when one of them would dover the ground. He was, however, willing to vote for the approval of such a requisition when properly presented.

A report of the Street Superintendent as to the number of teams employed in hauling gravel during the past week was now presented. Councilman Gaffey read a statement which he had compiled from the report, showing, as he thought, that the graveling was costing almost as much as it would to lay a good pavement.

The matter was finally referred to the Board of Public Works for investigation.

Councilman Nickell moved that the Street Superintendent be instructed to present a statement showing the cost involved in the employment of the chain-gang. He said that, as near as he could figure, it was costing about $25 per day. It was a question with him whether the work could not be let out by contract for a lesser sum. If so, it would be better to build a corral and set the chain-gang to breaking stone. The motion was adopted.

Councilman Gaffey could not agree with the representative of the First Ward. He said that it was the bushness men who got the better police protection, and not those who only owned houses and lots in the outer portion of the city. His experience as a member of the Board of Equalization had been that, while the merchant princes would turn in a small portion of the value of their assessable property, the smaller propertyowners would turn in a much larger proportionate value.

"According to instructions I have furnished the City Attorney a description of the property to be taken for the opening and straightening of Myrtle and Wall streets, from Third street to Pico street. I find that said street, north of Seventh street, its now called Wall street; between Seventh and Eighth street, it is called both Wall street and Myrtle avenue, and south of Eighth it is called Myrtle avenue. I would therefore recommend that an ordinance be passed making the name of this street Myrtle avenue its entire length." City Attorney instructed to present an ordinance in accordance with the recommendation.

CITY ATTORNEY'S OPINIONS.

The following report of the City Attorney was read:

"In the matter of the appointment of the Street Superintendent of inspectors on street work done under the provisions of the general street law, I am of the opinion that the Street Superintendent may employ inspectors at such price as he may fix, not exceeding $4 per day, as provided in said law." Filed.

"I have prepared and delivered to John Gennalli a contract for laying a twenty-two-inch cerment pipes across Washington street and Central avenue, as instructed." Filed.

"I have prepared and herewith present the following ordinances:

"An ordinance providing nine additional patrolmen." Referred to the Finance Committee, on motion of Councilman Innes.

"An ordinance changing the name of Sixth-street Park to Central Park." Adopted.

"An ordinance appointing commissioners for widening First street. In this ordinance the commissioners who had this work in charge before are named for the reason that having done the work, and being familiar with this property, and having here toford estimated the damages and benefits for this same work, they can perform the work at less expense." Adopted. (John Moriarty, John McII-moil and N. E. Davidson are the commissioners mentioned.)

censing of circuses, drafted in accordance with instructions from the Council, was now read, and was passed, after being so amended as to provide that no circus should charge an admission fee amounting to more than 50 cents.

An ordinance abandoning certain portions of the Highland View tract was presented, and was referred to the Board of Public Works, in conjunction with the City Attorney.

MOTIONS.

Councilman Munson was now in the chair, and President Teed moved that in the future no employee of the city be accepted as a bondsman on any contract with the city. Adopted.

Councilman Strohm moved that the City Engineer present an ordinance of intention to grade, gravel and construct a cement curb on Omer street, between Third and Fourth streets, and to lay a cement sidewalk on the east skde of the street. Adopted.

Councilman Rhodes moved that the Street Superintendent clean out the gutters and repair holes on Main street, from Ninth street to Jefferson street.

President Teed moved to amend by making it from Fourteenth instead of from Ninth street. Between Ninth and Fourteenth streets, he said, were some of the wealthy people, with whom the Council not long ago had a discussion. The street along there had not been graded, and if the property-owners were too poor to improve he saw no reason why the city should lend it aid.

Councilman Rhodes said that the people who would not improve were not so much the ones who were troubled with storm water flooding their laws.

LOS ANGELES FAIR.

Why the Local Exhibit Exceeds All

Others.

Next week is fair week, and, as usual during such events, the city will present some of the characteristics of holiday occasion. This is the time of the year when the big pumpkin, the sleek horses, the fat cattle, the fine sleek horses, the fat cattle, the line fruit, etc., have their innings. The sturdy agriculturist lays his tools of trade aside temporarily and joins his city brother in admiring the fine exhibits and watching the famous horses contest in the arena of speed. The American agricultural fair is a great institution and it is becoming more popular every year. The better the country surrounding it and the more enterprising the farmers and breeders, the more successful the fair, and that is perhaps the reason why the Los Angeles exhibition is the best of its kind in the big States of the Coast. While a few of the Eastern fairs have more pretentious displays, none of them surpass in the quality of their exhibits those shown at Los Angeles, as in the products of the farm, orchard and vineyard California leads, while the horses of the Pacific Coast are digging into the tracks of nearly every State in the country in such lively style as to make fruit, etc., have their innings. County Recorder Bray yesterday received from the Tax Collector 3111 certificates of property sold to the State for taxes for 1892, which were recorded in due form. The Recorder also received taxes for 1892, which were recorded in due form. The Recorder also received 2555 certificates for property sold to private parties for taxes for the same year. It has been customary heretofore to record these certificates free of charge, but in this case they were returned to the Tax Collector, Mr. Bray holding that under the law there was no authority, for recording the instruments until the regular fees had been paid, as in other cases. It will be necessary for parties holding certificates to get them from the Tax Collector and pay the fees, if they wish them recorded.
